2010 REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY

ABLE
Advocates for Basic Legal Equality, Inc

LAWO
Legal Aid of Western Ohio, Inc.

When many of us need to seek legal assistance, we simply contact an attorney. Thousands of people in western Ohio, however, cannot afford such assistance or do not know how to navigate our system of justice. This is where ABLE and LAWO can provide the legal representation we all deserve.

Our work brings hope, dignity and justice to low-income people by providing them with access to justice that ensures their basic needs are met. Our advocates are dedicated to empowering people to rebuild their lives and become independent and self-sufficient. The work of ABLE and LAWO combines community outreach, education, litigation, and legislative advocacy.

Each year, the number of cases in our community involving domestic violence, child custody, housing, employment, health care, and other critical civil matters continues to rise. This is why your commitment to equal justice is so important. We are fortunate to have so many of you who support our work. We can all take great pride in the high quality legal representation LAWO and ABLE provide to poor and at-risk families and groups.

This past year our advocates approached their work with the urgency and intensity necessitated by the dire circumstances of our clients and community. With YOUR help, we will continue these efforts and work with our clients to ensure that their fight against poverty, injustice, and inequality will be heard and that they will not be an afterthought in the wake of the nation’s economic recovery.

Together, we are making a significant difference in the lives of our clients and our community.

Together, we do the community justice.

“It is from numberless diverse acts of courage and belief that human history is shaped. Each time a man stands up for an ideal, or acts to improve the lot of others, or strikes out against injustice, he sends forth a tiny ripple of hope.”

– Robert F. Kennedy
LAWO ADVOCACY

Advocating for the Frail Elderly

LAWO provides a wide variety of services for the frail elderly in Montgomery County to help individuals live safely and independently in their communities. Our advocates provided 216 frail elderly individuals with legal assistance through funds from the Montgomery County Human Services Levy. We obtained more than $77,000 in monetary awards and benefits for clients in 2010. Through education, referrals, policy advocacy, and the representation of individuals, LAWO successfully addressed the needs of frail elderly clients in such critical areas as domestic violence, elder abuse, financial exploitation, housing, consumer fraud, debt collection, access to benefits (including Medicaid, Medicare, and retirement benefits), and the preparation of advance directives for health care, and other documents. In appropriate circumstances, LAWO also provided advice regarding guardianship issues. LAWO is the only law firm that provides comprehensive free legal services with the availability of home visits for Montgomery County residents who are 60 years of age or older.

Protecting Survivors of Domestic Violence

LAWO’s nationally recognized Family Justice Center Project (FJC) serves domestic violence clients in 21 rural counties. The Family Justice Center project has developed six rural “one-stop” service locations for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault. Shelters, medical and social service agencies, law enforcement agencies, and other government and non-profit organizations collaborate in the project.

Expanding Capacity through Pro Bono

LAWO’s Private Attorney Involvement Project manages monthly community legal clinics in Hancock County, staffed by volunteer attorneys and paralegals from the Marathon Petroleum Company legal department. The project has developed a model to train and support corporate pro bono attorneys for expanded pro bono availability in underserved rural counties. The project has targeted three initial areas of need: private landlord/tenant cases, simple probate matters, and advance directives.

Helping Provide a Fresh Start

LAWO expanded its prisoner re-entry coalition activities in Toledo. LAWO partners with several community organizations to assist re-entering prisoners with legal issues focused on housing access and barriers to employment. As part of the coalition, LAWO has recruited private attorneys and students from the University of Toledo College of Law to assist with the clinics and follow-up work. We also have established a program with the Toledo Municipal Court through which the Court conducts hearings via video conference to identify and dispose of pending charges that could lead to the issuance of a warrant on the client’s release from prison. This program allows an inmate to be released free of any other pending charges and to start fresh.
PROTECTING AN ELDERLY RESIDENT’S INCOME

Georgia became worried when she was told that she had very little money left in her Personal Needs Account (PNA) at the nursing home where she lived. When a volunteer ombudsman came to visit, she mentioned her concerns. The volunteer contacted a staff ombudsman who met with the resident and together they reviewed her account statements. They discovered that the facility had applied a $90 Veterans benefit toward care costs several times and that Georgia was not receiving her monthly $40 PNA. ABLE’s staff ombudsman then scheduled a meeting with the facility business manager where it was determined that the $40 PNA had not been placed in the client’s account since it was opened in 2008 and that the Veterans benefit was used several times to cover her cost of care. The facility agreed to reimburse Georgia the $500 she was owed. Today, Georgia’s finances are in good order and she is free of this worry.

Licensed volunteer ombudsman contributed nearly 3,000 hours during their more than 1,620 advocacy visits and spent nearly 100 hours working with staff on more than 68 case investigations. The program addressed issues of wrongful discharge and evictions from facilities, unattended or unnoticed symptoms, denial of a resident’s right to exercise choice, denial of civil and consumer rights, misadministration of medications, incidence of accidents or injuries of unknown origin, lack of dignity and respect by staff, and insufficient care plans. Staff and volunteers work with residents, their families and the facilities to resolve and correct these complaints.
ABLE ADVOCACY

Aiding Urban Renewal Through Urban Land Reuse

During the first year of an Urban Land Reuse and Affordable Housing Development Project, an Equal Justice Works Fellow, working with others across the state, successfully lobbied the Ohio House and Senate to extend land banking legislation to cities like Toledo and Dayton. The new statute authorizes Lucas and Montgomery Counties to create land reutilization corporations and implement land banks. Land banking can be used to create affordable housing and aid urban renewal efforts by gaining control of otherwise unmarketable vacant properties, creating a market for both for- and non-profit developers to create safe, sanitary affordable housing, while reducing factors that add to crime, property devaluation, and neighborhood population loss. ABLE is now an integral part of the Lucas County Land Bank Implementation Committee, helping to shape the policies of the new LRC and advocate for the creation of new affordable housing opportunities. Collaboration and education among community stakeholders continues in order to promote the use of innovative legal tools for land reutilization and neighborhood revitalization, including projects such as urban agriculture and the installation of rain gardens that will help build healthy, sustainable neighborhoods.

Establishing Relocation Rights for Public Housing Residents

ABLE filed a complaint in 2009 alleging that the relocation process the Dayton Metropolitan Housing Authority (DMHA) employed to relocate residents affected by the demolition of the Cliburn Manor public housing development violates the Ohio Relocation Statute. DMHA gave residents a choice between relocating to another DMHA development or opting for a Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher. One resident opted for the Section 8 voucher and an opportunity to relocate in a more desirable area, but she was unable to locate an apartment that met the housing quality standards or a landlord willing to accept the voucher offered by DMHA. The Ohio Relocation Statute requires a displacing agency to conduct proper planning to ensure that residents forced to relocate will receive comparable housing. The agency also is required to provide rental assistance to residents for up to forty-eight months to assist in finding comparable housing. The Montgomery County Court of Common Pleas dismissed the complaint, finding that federal law preempted the Ohio Relocation Statute. On appeal, ABLE persuaded the Court of Appeals that the federal statute does not preempt the state relocation laws. The ruling has significant implications statewide as residents who are faced with involuntary displacement by a housing authority can claim the protections of Ohio's relocation rights and housing authorities will be required to take steps to ensure comparable housing options.

Fighting for Health Care Services for Children in Poverty

This past year, advocates made significant progress in a case challenging the state’s failure to fully implement Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnostic, and Treatment services (EPSDT) under Ohio’s Medicaid Program. A settlement of several of the claims in the case of G.D. v. Riley, has resulted in the entry of a consent decree that will affect thousands of Medicaid eligible children in Ohio. The consent decree provides for system-wide reform in the administration and provision of the program.

The new requirements (based on recommendations by national experts) are essential to allow for the thousands of Medicaid-eligible children and their families to understand the availability of this critical health care program.
This report is related to ABLE and LAWO’s operations budget and does not include revenue or expenses related to the Campaign for the Center for Equal Justice or the Legal Aid Foundation of Western Ohio.
Ed is a senior who needed help filing his taxes. He attended a free clinic where he met with an ABLE Mobile Benefit Bank AmeriCorps staff member. The staff member suggested that Ed was likely eligible for nutrition assistance benefits available for low income seniors. After assisting Ed in completing an application for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP or Food Stamps), a Legal Needs Assessment was also completed. Several months later the staff member met Ed again at a community clothing drive. He was now not only receiving SNAP, but the Area Office on Aging had connected him with a program that was providing him with fresh meat and vegetables twice a month. He had also been referred to a free dental and health clinic that he was eligible for because of his veteran status. Through his legal assessment he filed an application for assistance to resolve a problem he was experiencing with his landlord. ABLE lawyers also resolved this issue for him. Ed’s encounter with the Mobile Benefit Bank has been a life-changing experience.

The Mobile Benefit Bank Project continues to be extremely successful in identifying both benefits and legal needs for clients in a holistic approach to client service delivery in Lucas County. By the end of 2010, 1,017 clients were enrolled in public benefit programs, providing assistance to 1,803 household members. HEAP, prescription assistance, Healthy Start, Healthy Families, and Medicaid assistance are among the benefits procured. The success of the project in 2010 led to an increase in funding from the Toledo Community Foundation for the 2010/2011 grant year, including an expansion of the project to Wood County.

Melissa was referred to the Medical Legal Partnership for Children (MLPC) for assistance with getting her son Richie back in school. Richie has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis and spondylitis.

At the time of referral, Richie had been out of school for weeks because he was no longer able to climb the three flights of stairs to reach his classroom. Melissa’s MLPC attorney obtained documentation regarding necessary accommodations for Richie from his doctors and advocated for proper accommodations and services at an Individualized Education Plan meeting. As a result, Richie was placed at an accessible school and is now receiving physical therapy and accommodations, including home schooling when he is physically unable to attend school.

Richie is prospering in school and is receiving an appropriate education that accommodates his disability.

Pediatricians recognize that the health status of their small patients is often negatively affected by social and environmental conditions that medical care alone cannot remedy. Proactive legal assistance in a medical setting helps alter the vicious cycle that keeps families in poverty. An attorney can help a family negotiate with landlords, public benefits providers, schools, and others to ensure access to safe housing, financial support, medical care, and an education. Since its inception, the Medical Legal Partnership for Children has received more than 1,000 referrals and has accepted hundreds of cases for ongoing representation, assisting pediatric and obstetric patients and their families with various legal matters, including obtaining child social security benefits, preserving affordable housing, obtaining appropriate special education services, obtaining custody for relative caregivers, and resolving consumer matters.

SAVING A HOMEOWNER WITH A DISABILITY FROM FORECLOSURE

Sixty-two year old Clara was facing foreclosure when she became unable to work due to heart disease. When she turned to Legal Aid for assistance, her attorney helped her present medical documentation to seek disability benefits from the Social Security Administration, and at the same time collaborated with a foreclosure defense attorney to keep the bank from selling her home. The disability benefits were approved just in time to prevent foreclosure, and Clara continues to live in her home.

In addition, Clara’s neighborhood does not have an abandoned property and she continues to pay her property taxes.

In the last year, Legal Aid Line processed 1,310 foreclosure-related intakes from people requesting assistance with foreclosures. More than 800 foreclosure cases have been opened this year, with casework ranging from providing brief advice and resource information to full litigation representation.

Since April 1, 2009, ABLE and LAWO attorneys have handled 1,089 foreclosure cases from throughout the 32 county service area.
PARTNERS IN EQUAL ACCESS TO JUSTICE

ABLE and LAWO have maintained long standing partnerships with pro bono legal services programs, including the Greater Dayton/Miami Valley Volunteer Lawyers Project (VLP) and the Toledo Bar Association Pro Bono Legal Services Program. Both programs provide opportunities for attorneys and other legal professionals to volunteer their services to low-income people by providing free legal assistance.

As LAWO and ABLE faced critical budget shortfalls in 2010, the ability of pro bono programs to secure volunteer lawyers became more important than ever. The time, hard work, and dedication of local volunteer attorneys made it possible to provide legal assistance to even more clients. Pro bono attorneys help fill the gaps for those who would otherwise go unrepresented in legal matters that affect their lives and the lives of their families.

Volunteer lawyers also participate in outreach programs, make community education presentations, and co-counsel cases with other volunteers and legal aid staff attorneys. LAWO is the major funder of pro bono programs in western Ohio.

An important benefit of pro bono work is the direct contribution an attorney can make to the principle of justice for all. In 2010, the following legal professionals in northwest and west central Ohio willingly and generously gave their time and expertise to those who could not otherwise afford an attorney. ABLE and LAWO applaud these women and men who agreed to give back to their community.

Minority business owner Cherie designs and creates jewelry for children. Recently she became worried about the possibility of lead in the materials she purchases from her suppliers. With concerns about her own liability for the materials, Cherie knew she needed to speak with an attorney. Without money to spare, she wasn’t sure how to hire a lawyer she could afford and trust when she heard about a small business legal clinic sponsored by legal aid and an organization that mentors small business owners. A pro bono attorney at the clinic advised Cherie on some important next steps for her business, including investigating liability insurance. Having to rely on her suppliers to be truthful about what is contained in the products they sell puts Cherie and her business in a vulnerable position. In addition, her pro bono attorney made some recommendations that helped Cherie realize that she has to hire an attorney if she is to keep up on the changing laws regarding lead levels in jewelry. She also received advice on a business plan and budget. Cherie now feels more confident about working with an attorney to grow her small business and to help with her success.

A community development initiative that serves entrepreneurs and small business owners in and around Lucas County, the Microenterprise Legal Assistance Project is designed to facilitate economic empowerment in low income and minority populations in Northwest Ohio. The project works to bring wealth to communities, creating jobs, and broadening economic equality for historically disadvantaged groups. With free legal services for entrepreneurs who cannot afford an attorney, the program has held a variety of community based small business legal clinics, provided extended representation by an attorney at ABLE or by a qualified pro bono attorney. This project is staffed by an Equal Justice Works Fellow, sponsored by the Ohio Legal Assistance Foundation, and funded in part by the Stranahan Foundation.

Implemented in 2010, the Microenterprise Legal Assistance Project is uniquely suited to help build assets in neighborhoods hit the hardest by the economic downturn.
